

Scottish Politician of the Year Awards 2007

Prestonfield House, Edinburgh

Now in their ninth year, these Awards, organised by The Herald, reward Scots who make an impact globally while working within the public or political arena. Scottish celebrities from the worlds of drama, writing, broadcasting and sport presented the awards during the glitzy and glamorous evening. Margo MacDonald won the Lifetime achievement award and both Alex Salmond and Gordon Brown were big winners on the night.

Sound and Vision successfully transformed The Stables at Prestonfield House into a spectacular setting fit for any winner of these prestigious awards! Guests were greeted with continuously changing colour washes on the building's exterior with a customised event logo emblazoned on the stone walls to complete the striking effect.

We produced a modern and eye-catching set design which was complimented with stage lighting creating the ambience within the room. Fully stage managed by Sound and Vision complete with auto cue, the 2007 Awards were considered the best yet!

"The Scottish Politician of the Year Awards is the annual flagship event for The Herald newspaper which attracts key Scottish business and politicians. For the last four years, Sound and Vision has provided all AV requirements including set and lighting design, sound and additional exterior lighting."

The team always creates and delivers an exciting, innovative and professional look for the event and are integral to the success of this awards ceremony."
