The Sunday Mail and sportscotland Sports Awards 2008 commemorate Scotland's excellent sportsmen, women and teams for their outstanding achievements across the sporting field.

With 2008 being one of Scotland's most successful sporting years to date, we produced an awards ceremony to suit. Using our black Stealth LED system as part of the stage set, we created a walk on feature with a custom built trophy plinth. Graphics were designed with event specific wording, company logos and other images that were animated throughout the ceremony. This electrifying technology created a fantastic backdrop enhanced with a black star cloth throughout the venue for a really glittering and glamorous effect.

Two large side screens showed the main presentation content and video links from winners who couldn't be there on the night along with live camera relay. These were supported by further large screens around the venue room for ease of audience viewing - with over 700 guests! Stealth proved itself once again as a fabulous show opener, unique sponsor branding opportunity and limitless effects throughout the ceremony.

"Once again the team at Sound & Vision produced a set and environment in keeping with the event theme, which exceeded all of our expectations. Incorporating the Stealth screen into the set, allowed us to give all sponsors prime branding which will inevitably help us to secure future support from them.

As well as creating an spectacular environment, the team managed to produce this within very restrictive time constraints and as always had a smile on their face!"
